

It is possible people wish to live in the REAL world and engage with friends, family, colleagues, and service providers in a space not mediated by military technology. Today's adults may find the Internet of Bio-Nano Things and Cyborg Avatar Capitalism unsettling. Augmented cognition may repel them. Parents may not appreciate schools training children to place their consciousness into robots to compete for digital piecemeal. Bodies may be less tolerant of nano-electronics than we hoped. People may realize we're remaking their lives as Non-Playable Characters in a global game of "sustainability" and "poverty management" before we achieve full spectrum dominance.

What happens when growth is limited by material reality? We invent synthetic reality and new empires emerge. Capital is no longer constrained by the inferior natural world or by human experience existing for its own sake free from manipulation and extraction by investors. Welcome to the Metaverse, we have leveled up and proudly accept our role as arbiters and mediators of new and infinitely profitable digital worlds. Blessed by our CIA handlers, we at Nephele LLC aim to help manage Avatar life for the eventual enclosure of all physical, social and psychological life onto blockchained mixed reality. Covid's state-of-exception is ushering in a new era of conquest and assimilation to fulfill our Manifest Destiny. Texas leads the way.

Defense, finance, and bio-nano technology sectors anxiously await Globalization 4.0. Free markets in digital services, globotics, and synthetic biology are ready to take center stage. First, however, the masses must be tagged. Decentralized “trust” must be established. The peons have to be conditioned for social impact processing and transformation into human+ centaurs.

Medical passports, electronic-government IDs, and education transcripts on blockchain will turn bodies and minds into securitized assets for futures trading. Markets in predictive profiling and digital twin optimization have been under development for decades. Central bankers have humanity on the verge of mass indenture. In the bio-surveillance panopticon, you're either going to be a bond holder or bonded. Get in on the ground floor. ESG portfolio managers are placing bets on Michael Bloomberg's what works, geo-fenced, smart city game boards now.

Nephele, LLC will help you navigate the terrain of the Spatial Web 3.0, “pay for success” finance, behavioral economics, wearable technologies, neuro-prosthetics, and the Internet of Bodies. As your in-game consultant we identify markets with significant growth potential. Not so keen on having your soul harvested by artificial intelligence, placed in a DAO, and tapped to trigger the Singularity in an attempted coup of g-d? We advise on that, too.
